About Exercise 2

The material indicated here as Exercise 2 consists of notes from exercise 2 at workshops 1b-Chicago, 1c-Paris, and 1d-Princeton, and exercises 1 and 2 at workshop 1a-Berkeley.

At workshop 1a-Berkeley

"Identify and Name Five Scholarly Practices" and "Aggregate Scholarly Practice"

At workshop 1b-Chicago:

"Exploring Scholarly Practice"

- During a really good day, term, research cycle, etc. what productive things do you do in relation to humanities research?

At workshop 1c-Paris:

"Exploring Scholarly Practice"

- As a researcher, librarian, IT professional, computer scientists, etc.: "During a really good day, term, research cycle, etc. what productive things do you do in relation to humanities research?"
- How do you accomplish that task/practice?
- Attempt to break efforts into discrete practices

At workshop 1d-Princeton:

"Exploring Scholarly Practice"

- As a researcher, librarian, IT professional, computer scientists, etc.: "During a really good day, term, research cycle, etc. what productive things do you do in relation to humanities research?"
- How do you accomplish that task/practice?
